

The Meaford Public Library recognizes that the needs of young people are important in their own right: that their intellectual growth, cultural appreciation, and recreational activities should be fostered through quality library service, delivered with consideration and respect. This policy sets out the services to be offered for children.

Rights of the Child

The Meaford Public Library endeavours to provide this service based on the principles stated in the Ontario Library Association's Children's Rights in the Public Library, 1988. See Appendix A.

Section 1: Scope

1. The services described in this policy are intended to meet the needs of children as well as parents, guardians, and adults who work with children or are interested in children's literature and programs.

Section 2: Services

1. Collections:

- a) The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) will ensure the maintenance and organization of a comprehensive children's collection based on the Collection Development Policy Policy-26.
- b) The children's collection will meet high standards of quality and reflect the changing educational needs and personal interests of children as well as trends in society.

2. Reference and Readers' Advisory:

- a) The qualified staff will utilize the full range of collections, technology, and methods to answer all users' requests for advice on selecting books and for information, regardless of age and without judgment, with confidentiality and respect.

- b) Library staff will point out the variety of resources available in all areas of the library as appropriate.

3. Programs:

- a) The library will provide programming for children, and parents, both in and out of the library, to stimulate creative potential, creative self-expression, social interaction, physical activity and values of acceptance. In addition, to encourage and facilitate the love of and habit of reading, independent learning, and use of the library.
- b) The library will provide educational, entertaining and literature-related programs and support for children, such as:
 - i. programs for parents/guardians, adults, and caregivers that will educate them on the importance of early literacy, the role of the library in their children's lives, and the support the library can offer them;
 - ii. programs for classes, children's groups, daycare, etc., depending on age, will emphasize early literacy and library orientation, and will encourage reading for leisure, and highlight various aspects of the collection;
 - iii. programs for summer, school breaks, and professional development days will highlight various aspects of our collection while encouraging reading for pleasure or leisure activities.
- c) The number of participants for all programs will be restricted based on size of the facility, fire department limits, staff supervision available, etc. This will be enforced by appropriate library staff.
- d) Some programs may limit the age of children and the number of children per accompanying adult. This limit may be enforced by the staff as the program is designed for maximum benefit to the child/parent/guardian through one-on-one interaction.

Section 3: Library Space

1. Where possible the library will provide well-planned areas for children that are distinct from the adult area.
2. These areas should be visually stimulating so that children are readily able to distinguish their own space from the rest of the library.
3. Where possible, these areas will have furniture, shelves, and equipment that are designed for and accessible to all children.
4. The library will ensure that signage is clear and age appropriate.

5. The children's areas are interactive learning environments where controlled noise levels are tolerated and where young users are invited to explore the library materials and services in their own way while following the Library Rules of Conduct.

Section 4: Staffing

1. The board will support a program of ongoing staff training and professional development in children's services.
2. The CEO will ensure that all staff members assigned to children's services receive appropriate training to provide knowledgeable library service.
3. While library staff will assist young people with finding materials, using the Internet or attending programs, they do not act in place of a parent. Parents/guardians are responsible for supervising all aspects of their own children's library use.

Section 5: Advocacy for Children

1. The library will advocate for children's services in the community by:
 - a) Collaborating with agencies to promote early literacy, love of reading, lifelong learning, and children's health and well-being.
 - b) Seeking support for children's services from community organizations, fundraising, donations, etc.
 - c) Networking with other agencies which provide service to children in the community, region, and province.
 - d) Communicating with principals, support staff, and teachers in the community.
 - e) Promoting the children's services and collections to groups which could benefit from them (schools, daycares, etc.).
 - f) Welcoming class visits and orientation for school children and home schooled children.

Appendix A

OLA Position on Children's Rights in the Public Library

Children in Public Libraries have the right to:

1. Intellectual freedom.
2. Equal access to the full range of services and materials available to other users.
3. A full range of materials, services and programs specifically designed and developed to meet their needs.
4. Adequate funding for collections and services related to population, use and local community needs.
5. A library environment that complements their physical and developmental stages.
6. Trained and knowledgeable staff specializing in children's services.
7. Welcoming, respectful, supportive service from birth through the transition to adult user.
8. An advocate who will speak on their behalf to the library administration, library board, municipal council and community to make people aware of the goals of children's services.
9. Library policies written to include the needs of the child.
